THE 2012–2016 MISSION HELPERS CENTRAL LEADERSHIP TEAM

Sr. Loretta Cornell, President; Sr. Elizabeth Langmead, Vice President; Srs. Donna Fannon and Clare Walsh, Advisors-in-the-Field
A MESSAGE FROM SISTER LORETTA CORNELL, MHSH PRESIDENT

This past fiscal year—July 1, 2011-June 30, 2012—was, indeed, a challenging one for our Community. At the quadrennial Chapter gathering in February, we presented an in-depth evaluation of our current and projected financial situation. It was not a positive picture.

After much prayer and discernment, the Sisters came to the conclusion that, in the future, the Community alone cannot maintain the 4.5-acre Mission Helper Center in Towson, Maryland. It is a larger facility than we currently need, and, last year, we spent 17 percent of our annual budget to maintain it. In addition, there are future capital improvements estimated at $500,000. These are funds that this Community would rather spend on our ministries and the people we touch through those ministries.

Some History

This property has been home to the Mission Helpers since 1920, when the early Sisters purchased a 65-acre parcel of land in rural Towson. By 1992, the Community no longer needed the large campus and we downsized to the 4.5-acre property that we have called home for the last 21 years.

Today, 22 Sisters live at the Center; it is where Mission Helpers come for renewal and where we gather annually to evaluate the mission and make plans for the future. The Center welcomes retreat groups, spiritual workshops, those seeking asylum and gatherings for people with special needs. It houses our administrative offices as well as the chapel where we hold daily Mass, celebrate our jubilees and honor the Sisters who have gone home to God.

The Future?

We care very much for the Center—it has been our Motherhouse, our home. We have spent the last year exploring alternatives to the outright sale of the property.

We have held lengthy deliberations with other religious communities who might purchase a portion of the property and share expenses, and we have considered various other possible solutions to our long-term financial picture. But as of now, it is likely that the property will be sold, and the Mission Helpers will find a new, smaller home. Due to existing contractual obligations, the property is not currently on the market.

We are not under pressure to complete the sale hastily, and we expect to receive full and fair market price for our property. The proceeds will be invested and earmarked for the care of the future generation of elderly and infirm Sisters. We will continue to care for our current population of aging Sisters as part of our annual operating expenses and will, as usual, be raising funds for this purpose, as well as for our missions and ministries. We receive no funding from the Catholic Church.
Who We Are

As our friends and supporters know, we have historically been a “community without walls.” We have gone where God has called us to be, and our focus has been, and will continue to be, on our ministries:

...in faith education for children and adults
...in hospitals, hospices and retirement communities
...in schools for children with special needs and the deaf
...on the streets of major cities and in new suburban parishes
...in remote Venezuelan villages
...with those addicted to alcohol or drugs
...with abused women and those seeking asylum in our country
...on college campuses
...in Internet faith formation
...in spiritual direction for all who come to us.

NEWS FROM THE MISSIONS

During the last fiscal year, missions continued to flourish throughout the United States, Puerto Rico and Venezuela.

A New Home in Venezuela

The family counseling ministries in Lara State in Venezuela have been strong and extremely well received by the people they serve. Last spring, we dedicated a new home for these ministries—two buildings joined by a courtyard.

The first building houses the Family Counseling Center where Sister Rosa Sofia Toledo and Sister Amarilis Flores Arrioja conduct individual and group counseling sessions for adults, children and young people in need of emotional, spiritual, physical and mental support.

The building contains small counseling areas, a larger meeting area and a chapel. The adjacent building serves as a formation house and is home to the Sisters.

Welcoming Asylum Seekers

The year also saw a new ministry take shape in Baltimore where the Mission Helpers opened their door and their hearts to people seeking asylum in the United States. They are in this country legally, having fled their home countries because they had been persecuted, raped or tortured for their political or religious beliefs, because their ethnic group was out of favor, or because they didn’t conform to the cultural dictates of those in power.

They are people of enormous courage who have left everything and everyone behind to go to a place that is totally unknown to them. But their lives were in such danger that leaving was their only option.

When the Mission Helpers learned that our country has no resources available to help these asylum seekers, we became early supporters of A.W.E.—Asylee Women Enterprise—a new group that provides housing and other support for the asylum seekers.

There are currently three asylees living with the Sisters at the Mission Helper Center. In addition to housing and food, the newcomers find a nurturing environment in which to heal and begin new lives.

“These courageous and frightened women have been traumatized, but they can thrive and grow in the caring environment of a faith-based community. We are making that happen for them,” says Sister Liz Langmead, Mission Helpers Vice President.
FINANCIAL REPORT

The Mission Helpers saw a 15 percent decrease in income in fiscal year 2012. There was a 21 percent decrease in donations, mainly due to a decrease in bequests, which are an integral part of our fundraising effort that cannot be anticipated.

A wine tasting event—Fruit of D’Vine—was introduced in fiscal 2011 and hosted again in 2012. This successful event increased Special Events income by 63 percent since 2010.

Sisters’ compensation continues to be a major source of support for the Community—the Sisters generate 38 percent of the Community’s annual income. Unfortunately, this is an area that can be expected to decline in future years as the aging and retired population of the Community increases.

Income from grants—another important source of support—decreased last year, because major capital improvement projects were put on hold as we determined the future of the property. Now that the decision on the property has been made, we will be identifying new areas for foundation support.

To cover the shortfall in income, $200,000 was transferred from investments to operating funds.

Expenditures decreased by 4 percent from the prior year. There were fewer Sisters in assisted living facilities, and we received Medicaid funds for long-term care for many of those in skilled care. The congregation as a whole continues to operate under budget wherever possible in order to reduce dependence on investment withdrawals.

Are you a member of the Mother Demetrias Society?

Members of the Mother Demetrias Society are faithful friends and supporters who have included the Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart in their wills or other estate planning.

Remembering the Community in your will is a commitment of your support that will enable us to continue our call to serve the people of God for future generations.

Leaving a bequest is easy. It’s as simple as adding a sentence to your will saying that you wish to leave a specific amount or a percentage of your estate to the Mission Helpers. Simple, but of enduring and inestimable value to the Community that you have so faithfully supported during your lifetime.

Making such a bequest automatically makes you a member of the Mother Demetrias Society, and as such your name will be added (with your permission) to our honor wall and will appear in a special listing in future Annual Reports. You will also be invited to share meals and other events with the Sisters.

Most important, including the Mission Helpers in your will carries on your support for our missions long after you have gone home to God.

To find out more, or to let us know that you have already included the Mission Helpers in your estate planning, please call Pat Dodd-Celeste, Director of Mission Advancement, at 410-823-8585, ext. 247.
